WHAT IS AAISM

ISACA's advanced credential for AI security management

AAISM — Advanced in AI Security Management — is ISACA's credential for security leaders who now own AI risk. It sits on top of an existing certification like CISM or CISSP: proof you can govern, secure and manage AI, not just talk about it.

PREREQUISITE

Hold CISM or CISSP

AAISM builds on a current, in-good-standing ISACA CISM or (ISC)² CISSP.

FOCUS

Manage, don't just use

Governance, risk and controls for AI systems across their lifecycle.

WHO IT'S FOR

Security leaders

CISOs, security managers and GRC leads whose scope now includes AI.

WHY A TWO-DAY BOOTCAMP CAN'T WORK

AI judgment isn't a weekend cram.

AAISM tests how you reason about AI risk — the kind of thinking that only comes from spaced, structured practice over time.

Spaced over 50 days

Concepts revisited across weeks stick. A crammed weekend fades before exam day.

Starts at Day 0

An AI literacy primer first — so governance concepts land on real understanding of models.

Judgment, not recall

The exam rewards applied decisions. We drill scenarios, not flashcards.

Live doubt-clearing

Weekly sessions where you bring your confusion — and leave without it.

Builds on your CISSP

We connect AI concepts to the security frameworks you already know cold.

Honestly counted

A real 50-day plan with rest days built in — not a fantasy schedule you'll abandon.

WHAT YOU MASTER

Three domains. One exam.

The AAISM exam weighting — so you know where to focus.

01

AI Governance & Program Management

~32%

Establish AI governance, policy and oversight aligned to the organisation's strategy and obligations.

02

AI Risk Management

~34%

Identify, assess and treat risks unique to AI — bias, drift, data poisoning, model and supply-chain risk.

03

AI Technologies & Controls

~34%

Secure AI systems across the lifecycle with the right technical and operational controls.

No tangential theory. Everything you study is directly relevant to what ISACA tests.

CAN YOU SIT AAISM? THE HONEST ANSWER

Check before you enrol.

You're ready now

You hold a current CISM or CISSP and your security scope already touches AI systems, tools or policy. AAISM is your next credential.

Almost there

You have strong security experience but no qualifying certification yet. Earn CISM or CISSP first — we coach that too — then layer AAISM on top.

Not yet

You're new to information security. Start with foundational security first — AAISM is an advanced, senior-level credential, not an entry point.

Unsure? Book a free eligibility call. We'll check your certifications and experience against ISACA's requirements — before you spend a rupee.
